Berlin's Gas Streetlighting - a cultural treasure

Unique: Berlin's guided gaslight tours

If you haven't heard anything about gas streetlighting up to now, maybe you shouldn't read on - once you've felt the fascination of this unique light, it might not let you go again.

On our gaslight tours, we'll show you the most beautiful gas-lit streets and squares in Berlin. Experience Berlin's historical gas streetlighting from the top deck of a double-decker bus or on one of our guided cycling or walking tours. In an entertaining way you'll find out more about the lighting which has made Berlin so unmistakable since 1826.

Our tours are financed exclusively via voluntary donations from the participants. With the bus tours, the bus has to be paid for, too. The bus tours are for a maximum of 79 people, whereas there's no limit to how many can take part in the cycling and walking tours.

For where to find more information, please see below:

Here's what our tours will show you

- the history of Berlin's gas streetlighting
- Berlin's gaslight ensembles and their importance for the cityscape
- how historical gaslamps work
- technical demonstrations
- the different types of gaslamps to be found in Berlin, how to recognize them and lots more besides...
